Bulbophyllums

Gerardus B. Staal, PhD

Gerardus is a Dutch native with a masters degree in tropical agronomy and a doctorate in entomology. He worked as a research entomologist for a Bay Area company involved in the development of novel insect control agents, based on the insects hormonal system, several of which are still marketed today.

He retired from entomology in 1990 and started devoting more time to several aspects of orchid culture, including the culture of rare species, in vitro propagation and hybridization. Flasks with seedlings have been available under the Peninsula Hybrids label. Many AOS quality awards were obtained for novel hybrids in the Odontoglossum, Pleurothallid and Cattleya alliances as well as several CBR's for species new to the judging system. One novel trigeneric hybrid got the name Staalara Gerardus, recently also a novel hybrid combination was named Gerardusara.

Gerardus is a Past President of POS, served on the board of several local orchid societies in the bay area, served a term as president of the national Pleurothallid Alliance and was a member of the AOS research committee. He still frequently lectures on pest and disease control in orchids, and on Masdevallia, Dendrobium, Epidendrum, orchid propagation and Bulbophyllum.

Gerardus will share his in-depth knowledge about Bulbophyllums. This is a very informative lecture that will provide much needed information to all orchid growers, from the novice to the expert.

Gerardus will also provide some wonderful plants for the opportunity table. Sure to please.

Skill Session: Orchid ICU

Several experts will be available to look at your orchids that you have questions about. If apparently diseased or infested with pests, please enclose in a plastic bag. You may only need to bring one leaf.

AOS Corner

At the Trustees' Meeting in San Antonio last month, it was announced that the sale of headquarters of the American Orchid Society was approved and closing on the sale will be the end of November 2011. The Sandra C. Slomin Foundation and Family Center for Autism and Related Disabilities is purchasing the site to use as a day care facility and eventually a private elementary school to serve children with autism and related disabilities. The Board of Trustees also approved the process to enter into negotiations for a strategic partnership with Fairchild Tropical Botanical Gardens in Coral Gables, Florida. The move, if an acceptable partnership is approved, should be completed by the end of the first quarter 2012.

The Trustees also approved the Library Committee's report which gave the Committee the direction to thoroughly inventory the extensive art collection, rare books and manuscripts and archives of the American Orchid Society in anticipation of its headquarter change. The Library Committee has the authority to determine which items will remain property of AOS and the disposition of those items that will not be retained. If any member wishes to inquire about a specific item's disposition, they may contact the Library Committee through their email library_committee@aos.org.

Out and About: Diablo View Orchid Society October Meeting

The Diablo View Orchid Society had the good fortune to have Jason Fisher as their October speaker, his topic being Neofinetia falcata. The first orchid I ever entered in our show was Phragmipedium. Jason Fisher, hybridized by Jason's father Jerry Fisher, so I had to go.

DVOS holds their meetings in Concord. It was a slow two hour drive for me from my job in Santa Clara. Fred and Cordelia had a faster drive of eighty minutes from San Jose. Definitely, if you go, take another person so you can use the carpool lanes on the bay side of the East Hills. There are many places to eat dinner close to the meeting site.

Jason gave a skill session on repotting Neofinetias, then the Show and Tell table was presented. As does San Francisco Orchid Society, DVOS provides incandescent lights and the show & tell orchids are held up to the more flattering light so that the true flower colors can be appreciated.

We broke for refreshments and Cordelia and I headed to Jason's sale table. We each bought a Phragmipedium. Jason Fisher seedling and Jason humored us and signed our plant tags in English and in Japanese.

Jason's presentation on Neofinetias included information on the different leaf shapes, leaf variegation patterns, the different points on each plant that receive appreciation by the Japanese, the flower colors, culture information, Japanese culture and history surrounding Neofinetias, how the ranking chart is organized, and anecdotes from the big show and sale held annually. Jason lived in Japan for several years, teaching English.

This talk tied in well with the presentation given by Satomi and Shigeru Kasahara of Seed Engei at Carmel Orchid Society in August of 2009. I took notes at their talk, so you can find a little more detail in the August 2009 issue of The Sheath.

However, I still don't understand why I have two Neofinetia falcatas (Shutennau and an unnamed white one) blooming in November. Both Jason and Satomi said that the Neofinetia falcatas all bloom in the late spring to early summer.

December 2011 Meeting

Though I did announce that there would be no December meeting, I was wrong. We will have our December meeting on Friday, December 16th. We will have a Pot Luck and Bingo night. This will give us all a chance to visit without having that pesky Mike Drilling asking us to be quiet! Dennis Olivas has agreed to be our Bingo caller so we are sure to have a fun evening.

For Bingo you will want to bring a plant to add to the prize table. It doesn't have to be one of your darlings - you can buy one some place for this event if you prefer. Everyone who plays is guaranteed to win at least once.

We will still have our Show & Tell table, but we will not be presenting it. Instead, if you see a plant you would like to know more about, you may find the owner and have a chat. No, you may not choose your Bingo winnings from the Show & Tell table!

Details in the December newsletter. I will "assign" food groups by the first letter of your last name, but if you want to bring something from a different classification, feel free.
